4	I have two reasons why I think people today use too much electricity. First, most people these days have a lot of electronic devices, such as smartphones, tablet computers, and music players. These devices need to be charged often, and this uses a lot of electricity. Second, many people waste electricity in their homes. For example, they leave their lights on when they go out of the house. They should turn off the lights when they go out. I think that it is important for people to try not to use too much electricity.
