4	Hi Jerry, I think playing team sports teaches children about the importance of working with other people to achieve their goals. Team sports are also more fun to play than individual sports. As for your second question, I think city schools take their students to rural areas so they can learn more about nature. What's more, it's healthy for them to breathe the fresh country air. Finally, it's a good thing for people to take online courses. Many people are too busy at work to take regular classes, so online courses give them more flexibility. People studying online courses also have easy access to a wide range of study materials. Speak to you soon. Misa
