4	I do not think that more people will move from cities to live in the countryside. First of all, there are not many jobs in rural areas. People need money to support their families, so they have to live in cities for work. Furthermore, the environment of cities is nicer than it was in the past. Nowadays, there are many beautiful parks and green spaces, so people do not need to go to the countryside to enjoy the outdoors in their daily lives. So, for these reasons, I do not think more city people will move to the countryside.
