4	I do not agree that all people should be able to enter museums for free. I have two reasons for this opinion. First, it costs money to preserve historical items and works of art. If such collections were not maintained properly, they would become damaged over time. Second, it is important to control the number of people entering a museum by charging a fee. People would not be satisfied at a crowded museum because they would not be able to take enough time to see the displays. For these two reasons, I do not agree with this opinion.
