I believe that the quality of alternative products and respecting animal rights are reasons why people should not use goods made from animals.
 Many products made from animals are being replaced by artificial goods, and technological advancements have greatly improved the quality of these man-made goods. For example, the quality of fake fur is almost the same as that of real fur. Such high-quality alternative goods mean that using animal products is unnecessary.
 Furthermore, some animal products come from animals living in conditions that restrict their freedom. However, animals deserve the right to live freely, and this right should not be ignored for the sake of commercial gain. Therefore, stopping the use of animal-based goods is an effective way to protect animal rights.
 In conclusion, the high quality of other types of products and the importance of protecting animal rights mean that people should stop using goods made from animals.
