| 4 | I do not think it is a good idea for Japan to buy a lot of food from other countries. One reason is that Japan should not depend too much on imported food. If sudden problems occur in other countries, imports may stop, and Japan will not have enough food. Another reason is that Japan should encourage domestic agriculture more. If Japan continues buying a lot of cheap food from abroad, food producers will find it difficult to stay in business. Therefore, it is not good for Japan to buy a lot of food from foreign countries. |
