4	I think people will continue to spend more and more time using their smartphones. First, people can enjoy various entertainment with their smartphones anywhere. For example, they can watch movies and dramas without going to movie theaters or even turning on the TV. Second, people can easily get useful information with their smartphones anytime. For example, students can look up words in online dictionaries or collect information for their presentations. For these reasons, I believe that the time people spend using their smartphones will continue to increase.
