4	I think parents should control their children's activities on social media. One reason is that social media often leads to trouble among children. On such media, some children say bad things about their friends and hurt their feelings without thinking carefully. Another reason is that children sometimes get to know strangers on social media. As a result, they may give their personal information to others, which can be dangerous. For these reasons, I think parents should carefully watch their children's use of social media.
