4	I think there should be more art in public places. First, art in such places will help people become more interested in art. People often think that art is something special in museums, but they can realize that art is also part of their daily lives. Second, art in public places will help improve the local economy. Showing works of art for free can attract a lot of visitors, and this will help develop tourism. Therefore, I think it is a good idea to have more art in public places.
