4	These days, many farmers use modern technologies to help operate their farms. This is because technologies can help farms with a shortage of workers and attract more young people into farming. However, farmers have to pay a lot of expenses to introduce new technologies and make an effort to use them effectively.
5	I think this will become more common in the future. First, parents can feel comfortable without worrying too much about their children's behavior. Because the people around them are also with their children, they will be understanding. Second, children can make good memories during the trip. Children can fully enjoy the time with their families and make friends with the other children sitting in the seats near them. Therefore, I think train seats for people with children will become more common in the future.
