5	I think students will use paper textbooks in the future. If they use them, they do not have to worry about how long the computers' batteries last. I have two questions about your computer. First, does the computer come with a keyboard? Second, how many applications does the computer have?
6	No, I do not think it is a good idea. First, listening to music on the train can cause trouble for others. The sound might come out of the headphones and might be a problem for other passengers. Second, people who are listening to music might miss getting off the train. This is because they might not hear the announcements.
