4	Some people go to their jobs during the day and take university classes after work. They can learn knowledge and skills for their current jobs and increase their career opportunities. However, some people may find it difficult because they need to make the time to study and have understanding from their families and co-workers.
5	I think so. First, from the hotels' perspective, AI translation machines can be cost-effective. This is because hotels do not need to hire many staff who can speak different languages. Hotels can serve customers from various countries by just installing one machine. Second, from the customers' perspective, AI translation machines are convenient. Customers do not need to learn local languages to communicate and find the information they need. Therefore, I think the number of hotels that use AI translation machines will increase in the future.
