4	Free Wi-Fi service is available at many cafés and restaurants. It is useful because customers can go online with their own devices. However, due to its weak security, customers' personal information may be at risk.
5	Yes, I think so. First, growing their own vegetables promotes good health. People can avoid using harmful chemicals and stay healthy by eating their own vegetables. Second, it allows people to save money. Vegetable prices are becoming increasingly high these days, and growing vegetables at home is cheaper than buying them from shops.
