4	The use of AI in medical checkups has become increasingly popular. This technology allows patients to learn about their health problems sooner and can support people living far from a hospital. However, it might make dangerous mistakes if it learns from bad data and has a risk of sensitive patient data being stolen or misused.
5	I think this is a good idea. First, sharing events online increases the number of people who can view them. Even parents who live far away can enjoy the events through online videos. Second, sharing videos of school events online helps promote the school. It can increase interest in the school and may lead to more students wanting to enter the school. Therefore, I think it is a good idea for schools to share online videos of school events such as sports days and graduation ceremonies.
