5	I think systems that spread water on the ground will become more popular in the future. When it is too hot outside, some people may not want to go shopping, so these systems can help. How many days did the summer sale last? Did many customers visit the sale?
6	Yes, I think it is better for people to cook their meals. First, cooking at home is healthier for people. People can control the amount of salt and oil in the food they eat. Second, cooking at home saves money. Restaurant meals are usually more expensive because customers must pay for the service and experience.
