| 5 | I think a service that lets visitors use their smartphones to see where they are will become more popular. It helps people save time and enjoy looking around large places without getting lost. Is the dolphin show popular among children? Is the show held every day?                                                                            |
| 6 | Yes, I think train stations should have more elevators. First, having more elevators will reduce crowding and waiting times. This will make train stations more convenient for people. Second, elevators make train stations easier to use for elderly people and people with heavy bags. They can move between floors more safely and comfortably. |
