4	Watching short news videos on social media is becoming popular. They are helpful because people can learn about difficult issues quickly. However, they can spread wrong information easily, so people must check other sources too.
5	Yes, I think it is a good idea. First, a reward will make children want to study harder. They will spend more time on their homework to get a reward. Second, parents can show they recognize their children's efforts by giving them a reward. Children will become more confident when they know their hard work is valued.
